COURT

JAILED: Frederick Potter given five years

Knife-wielding ex-boyfriend is sent to prison

AN ex-boyfriend who subjected a woman to a terrifying ordeal at a house in Haverhill has been jailed for five years.

Frederick Potter, 34, held a knife to the woman's neck and threatened to kill her during the incident in June last year, Ipswich Crown Court heard.

Potter, of Tomlins Orchard, Barking, Essex, had demanded to know from the woman who his ex-girlfriend had been having a relationship with, said Claire Matthews, prosecuting.

During the incident Potter had stabbed himself and

RACHAEL
MC MENEMY
@rach_mc9CN checked that the front door was locked, the court heard.

He also smashed the mobile phone of a former partner who was at the house.

Last August, Potter had arrived in the early hours of the morning at an address in Haverhill in an agitated state and picked up a knife, said Miss Matthews.

Potter frightened the woman by making as if to stab her in the leg and then ordered her to lie on a bed where he brandished the knife towards her but the blade went into a duvet and there were no injuries.

Jailing him for five years with an extended licence period of two years, Judge David Goodin told Potter that his behaviour had been "frightening and terrifying".

Judge Goodin said that Potter, who had pleaded guilty to assault by beating, two offences of false imprisonment and three offences of making threats to kill, posed a "significant" risk to the public.

CRIME

Another mum's heartbreak over son's vandalised grave

RACHAEL
@rach_mc94CN

THE mother who discovered a baby's grave had been vandalised in Haverhill Cemetery has spoken out after finding her own son's grave had been attacked on the same day.

Jade Denzey went to visit her son Fraizer's grave on Friday, July 7, when she discovered it had been trashed and ornaments stolen.

Last week, the News reported that Melanie Morris' son's grave had been attacked by vandals who stole pictures and other items.

Jade was visiting her little boy's grave to begin preparing for his birthday on July 29 when she also discovered the wrecked grave of Melanie's son Jaydon nearby.

Jade said: "I arrived there and fell to my knees in disbelief.

"I can't imagine why anyone would be targeting babies' graves.

"That's my special place. I couldn't see him, so to me that grave means everything."

Jade was horrified by the damage to the other grave and put out an appeal to find the other baby's mum.

"Basically I found Fraizer's grave the way it was with a photo of Melanie's baby on it.

"I asked my friend to put the pictures on Facebook and Mel responded. I found my son's grave with teddies everywhere, flowers all over the place and ornaments broken and they broke a toy train."

Jade said this was the third time Fraizer's grave has been vandalised in just five years.

On this latest occasion, an ornament showing a hand cradling a baby was stolen and a train that spelled out Fraizer's name was smashed.

Jade said: "The ornament was very personal to me, I put it there, it's exactly what he looked like on my scan picture."

"Before this a portion of chips was all over his grave and other ornaments stolen."

Frazier was stillborn in 2012 and since then Jade, from Linton, has found comfort in visiting his grave.

She said: "It cut me up inside. It's bad enough with his birthday coming up but to find that was awful."

Jade specifically chose the cemetery in Haverhill because part of the graveyard is set aside for babies.

She said: "I could have had him buried in Linton but I wanted him to be around other babies.

DESTROYED: Jade Denzey found her son Fraizer's grave vandalised

"I thought this is a bit specifically for babies, they're the only graves there for babies in that part of the cemetery, for him to have company, I didn't want him on his own."

"It was my way of finding comfort in something that was the worst time of my life."

Jade said the vandalism has left her worried about visiting the cemetery.

"I was never the same after Fraizer. Every time I go there I wonder what will be there."

"It's completely heartbreaking that someone would do that, not just to a grave in general but to a baby's grave. I don't understand how anyone finds that entertaining."

Melanie also says she knows of at least one other grave that has been damaged.

Asked what she would say to the vandals Jade said: "Treat them with respect."

"If it happened to you it wouldn't be a nice feeling to see your loved one's grave like that. I don't know how anyone could do this."

A petition calling on St Edmundsbury Borough Council to install CCTV and motion sensor lights in the cemetery has already attracted 989 signatures.

A spokesman for the council said: "Any consideration of CCTV has to balance an individual's right to privacy in an area where they need to be allowed to mourn, against any ongoing issues and cost."

However, Jade said: "I wouldn't care about my privacy, it's all about Fraizer, not about me. It's about making sure that this never happens again and if it does people will be caught."

Police are appealing for witnesses and information. Anyone with information should call Suffolk Police on 101, quoting reference CAD 589 of July 8.

CHILDREN

New figures show 'home alone' rise

DOZENS of cases of children being left home alone are being referred to police and children's services across Cambridgeshire and Suffolk, it has been revealed.

Figures from the NSPCC show that the number of cases referred to authorities has risen in the counties over the past two years.

Specialist counsellors on the charity's 24-hour helpline made more than 150 referrals to local agencies since 2015.

In 2015/16, 46 cases were referred across Peterborough and Cambridgeshire, with 54 being referred in 2016/17.

In Suffolk 40 referrals were made in 2016/17 up from 24 in 2015/16.

The NSPCC says it receives calls and emails from worried members of the public.

Callers have shared reports of children left alone overnight and young children left to feed themselves and use dangerous kitchen equipment.

The charity has issued a 'home alone guide' for parents to help them consider whether it is a good idea to leave a child unsupervised.

It warns that although a child

TOM PILGRIM

may seem responsible enough to be alone, parents should think about how they would cope in unexpected situations such as an emergency, a stranger calling at the house, being hungry or if the parent is away for longer than they thought.

The charity says babies, toddlers and very young children should never be left alone and children under the age of 12 are rarely mature enough to cope in an emergency and should not be left at home alone for a long period of time.

Peter Wanless, NSPCC's chief executive, said: "Deciding if a child is ready to be left on their own can be a very difficult decision and the summer holidays can be a difficult time for parents and carers as they face increasing childcare pressures."

"Although there is no minimum age, no child should be left on their own if there is any risk they will come to harm."

"Children mature at their own rate so it's really important parents think carefully about what is right for their child."

"Children shouldn't be left on their own if they are not happy with being left, or if they don't know what to do in an emergency."

A spokeswoman for Cambridgeshire police said: "We advise the child should be of an age where they can look after themselves and that it is not safe to leave children alone for long periods of time, or overnight."

"Where there is serious cause for concern we will always intervene, and where there is a case to answer, offenders will be prosecuted for neglect – this includes not meeting your child's basic needs such as food and warm clothing, failing to respond to their emotional needs or constantly leaving them alone."

The NSPCC's home alone guide for parents and carers can be found on its website. The charity's helpline is available 24 hours a day on 0800 800 5000 for free and confidential advice.

FUNDRAISING

'Gig is fitting tribute to Pete'

INSPIRATIONAL: A concert will be held in memory of musician Peter James

A CONCERT to remember Haverhill musician Peter James, who died aged 26, is returning for the third year.

Peter James died in 2013 when his car crashed into a tree on Homefield Road in Haverhill.

He had been a guitarist with the band This Broken Empire and, following his death, friend and event organiser Matt Plumb, along with other friends, set up the PIM:JAM festival as a tribute.

Matt said: "Pete was a funny, hardworking and ambitious young man from Haverhill."

"Pete worked during the day as an electrical engineer for a local manufacturing business but his main passion was for music, he was an extremely talented and inspirational guitarist with an effortless playing style."

"He found nothing more enjoyable than when he had his guitar in hand, practising during every spare moment, playing and writing with his band This Broken Empire during practice sessions and performing at numerous gigs."

"Pete taught many of his close friends how to play

guitar including myself, and influenced many younger aspiring guitarists who have gone on to achieve great careers within music.

"Pete and myself had often spoken about holding regular music events and festivals in Haverhill to showcase the array of local talent. We hope that PIM:JAM is a fitting tribute to Pete and we know that he would have enjoyed the day as much as we know we will."

The festival, which starts at noon on Saturday July 29, raises money for Suffolk Accident Rescue Service (SARS) whose volunteers helped at the scene of Peter's accident.

Crowds of 350 attended last year's festival and £3,500 has been raised for the charity so far.

Matt, who also hosts monthly gigs at The Bull, added: "PIM:JAM is a lasting memory of Pete's love for music and a fitting testament to such an inspiring man. We've been blown away by the support from the previous two events and are delighted to have raised so much for SARS, which will help them to continue providing life-saving treatment to those in need."

"We're really excited to be bringing PIM:JAM back for its third year - it's going to be better than ever before. We've got some fantastic bands lined up, with something to suit everyone's tastes. People from the town have really got behind the festival and we want to say thank you for their support by growing PIM:JAM each year."

The festival, held at The Bull pub in Haverhill, will host live music across two stages, showcasing upcoming Haverhill bands and artists including Shannon Elsdon and Dale Bennet.

Some bands Peter previously performed alongside, like Umbrella Assassins and Saving Scarlett, will also be performing at the festival.

Tickets are just £4 and can be bought online at pimjam.co.uk, or on the day for £5.

Haverhill is a great place!

I WAS appalled at the way your article "Is this really the 'chav' capital of Great Britain?" (News, July 6) was produced.

It seemed to suggest a totally negative view of our town Haverhill.

The body of the article tried to discount the poor perceptions that the headline suggested but the headline had already done the damage.

A lot of people saw that and nothing else!

A huge amount of work and effort goes into making our town a great place to live and work in and I think we are better than many others around the country.

I have the huge privilege to be mayor of Haverhill and see a lot of the work that goes in to make our community great.

We have groups that support those less well off, disadvantaged as well as those supporting our youngsters.

Across all areas there are a lot of people promoting our town and working to build for the future. We have a new retail park opening shortly and a business park that will bring jobs.

I am not aware of other towns that have such a lot of free events that happen throughout the year, from summer concerts in the market square to fireworks at Christmas. There are events that are there for all ages and not just in the centre of town.

This headline taken out of context does a lot of harm and then distorts the reality.

Cllr David Roach
Mayor of Haverhill

Pavement parking anger

WHEN will something be done about the fiasco which occurs in Haverhill High Street on a daily basis but mostly on Sunday mornings from 10am onwards?

I refer to the problem of pavement parking by inconsiderate, bone-idle motorists who decide to illegally park on pavements rather than use the ample parking facilities close by. This is an ongoing problem, ignored by the powers that be, so, until a serious accident occurs, it will still be considered a minor priority.

If a petition was held I'm in no doubt the shoppers on foot would wholeheartedly agree to a complete ban on motorists blatantly ignoring the law which applies to our High Street parking.

Pedestrianisation from Quakers Lane would be the best solution and would certainly put an end to the ridiculous situation and give peace of mind to shoppers who won't have to stand aside though walking on their specified area to allow an "I'll park where I want to" inconsiderate motorist. The situation is worsening because drivers realise there is nobody to enforce the law as it is regarded as a low-priority problem.

When will it become a serious one – an accident perhaps?

Think about disability

ANYONE seen leaving a disabled toilet who is not in a wheelchair, or who is not showing any other signs of a limited ability to walk, can often be the subject of a disapproving look, or even of verbal abuse.

What some people fail to realise is that not every disability is immediately visible, as is the case with anyone whose bodily waste exits the body via a surgically created opening, called a stoma.

The waste from a stoma is collected in specially designed disposable bag, which needs to be emptied on a regular basis, for obvious reasons.

There may also be occasions when a leak occurs, necessitating very speedy remedial action to avoid the embarrassment of soiled clothing. Changing a stoma bag in clean, spacious environment is essential in order to avoid infection.

Estimates vary, but this is the reality of life for around 130,000 people of all ages in the UK – that is one in 500.

Many people will have heard of a colostomy or an ileostomy, both life-saving stomas for anyone with a severe bowel condition.

Few, however, will have heard of a urostomy, the most common outcome for conditions requiring removal of the bladder – in the majority of cases bladder cancer is the root cause.

Using a disabled toilet is a right for anyone with a stoma, but even then, conditions are often not ideal and most such facilities need to be improved.

For instance, a shelf very near to the toilet is needed to lay out all the equipment needed for a bag change, and the wash-basin should also be within reaching distance of the toilet basin.

Most disabled toilets will have a waste bin that is suitable for disposal of stoma bags, but some do not.

There should also be a sign on the door, making it clear that not every disability is immediately apparent, and that the facilities are not just for wheelchair users.

For over 45 years, our UK-wide charity, The Urostomy Association, has been supporting and informing, both before and after surgery, anyone with any form of urinary diversion.

Somehow, problems associated with the disposal of urine are still the subject of a very out-dated taboo mentality.

One of our biggest challenges is raising the awareness of the needs of an estimated 10,000 of the UK population who are affected by this.

The next time you feel like challenging someone who is not in a wheelchair leaving a disabled toilet – think again!

Brian Fretwell, Chairman of the National Executive Committee
Hazel Pixley, National Secretary
The Urostomy Association

Delays on new bypass

YOU couldn't make it up could you? What? I hear you cry.

Well, I am referring to the news that the Ely by-pass opening has already been put back from Spring to "late summer".

Apparently this is due to the work involved in changing an electrical supply from overhead to underground as part of the £36m project. The by-pass has taken years in discussion and planning and the power issue is surely a major item and should have been planned for long ago.

Cllr Ian Bates may say all is well but it clearly isn't and let us also remember that the weather has been kind to us so far. What further delays might there be until this by-pass is completed?

My forecast is a 2019 opening during which time Cllr Bates might wish to consider his future.

NEWMARKET JULY FESTIVAL

Hats off to a festival which puts on the style

This year's July Festival was one of the most enjoyable yet. JASMINE WATKISS was at Newmarket Racecourse to enjoy the best of the season's most admired stylistic celebrations

THE social event of the season went out with a bang in Newmarket on Saturday, as the July Festival came to a close with Couples' Day.

Lavish ladies sporting technicolour frocks, skyscraper heels and flamboyant fascinators kicked off the event with a sold out Ladies Day on Thursday.

In the women's Style Awards, more than 1,600 entrants were whittled down to just 10 finalists, many of whom made their hats, fascinators, and dresses themselves.

First place went to lady in red Anna Pribylova, second to blue steel Charlotte Cutting, and third to the flowery Elisha Greer.

The weather stayed warm and sunny as the king of fashion, Gok Wan himself, played a DJ set after the races to get guests in the groove for a night of partying.

Friday was Gentlemen's Day and the perfect opportunity for the boys to step into the limelight in an array of top hats, tweed, and ties.

Although a little more sedate than Ladies Day, racegoers flocked in their thousands to Newmarket Racecourse in celebration of the 'stronger sex'.

A couple of celebrities made unexpected appearances; Welsh TV personality Gethin Jones was interviewed on the big screen, and Made In Chelsea's Georgia Toffolo appeared in a pretty frock ready for a flutter.

The men's Style Awards received around 400 entrants, but in the end Ryan McCullagh won first prize for his clean-cut look, with Louis Esquerre Gow in second place in vintage gear, and Mark Hollingsworth in third donning a classic get-up.

Sarah Harding of Girls Aloud provided the Apres Racing entertainment.

Newmarket July Cup Day was the third and final day on Saturday, and couples gave it their all to be crowned the Kim and Kanye of the racing scene.

Winners of the Style Awards' 'Best Dressed Couple' were the dazzling Victoria and Lewis Blackbird, who matched their outfits in striking shades of red.

Justine and Paul Wykerd came in second place with well-matched pink accents, while Jade Johnson Biddles and Lewis Ryles took third.

Along with everyone else we had such a good time we intend to go back again next year – this time with homemade fascinators.

Find the right words

Another day, another year,
But precious memories keep you near.

Looking back with tenderness along the path you trod;
I bless the years I spent with you, and leave the rest to God.

God saw that you were tired, he knew you needed rest,
His garden must be beautiful, He only takes the best.

CRIME

Police bring in knife amnesty

RAYMOND BROWN

@RaymondBrownCN

A KNIFE amnesty has been launched by Cambridgeshire police following a dramatic increase in the number of attacks using blades.

Knife crime went up by 71 per cent across the region from 2013 to 2016, according to Home Office data.

There were 376 cases of people using knives in serious crimes, such as rape and making threats to kill, in 2015/16, up from 220 in 2013/14.

Police say that in Cambridge alone there were 49 offences involving the possession of a weapon from July 2016 to June 2017, which rose to 68 in 2015/16.

Amnesty bins have been installed at police stations in the county from yesterday as part of Operation Sceptre – a national initiative to tackle knife crime.

Insp Ben Newton said: “Knife amnesties form an important part of the strategy for Operation

Sceptre and I’m pleased that more than 100 knives were recovered in May. I hope people will take this additional opportunity to dispose of weapons without fear of prosecution.

“As part of the campaign, we’re appealing to people, including parents and carers, who know someone who carries a knife to encourage them to make use of the amnesty.”

The amnesty follows an incident in which a woman was approached by two women with a knife in Newmarket who tried to frog march her to a cashpoint.

The incident began on the pathway known as the Yellow Brick Road between 11.15pm and 11.20pm on Wednesday, June 7. The victim managed to get away from the suspects.

Police believe two men were also involved.

And a woman suffered a broken jaw after a hooded man punched and knifed her in the face.

Police were contacted at about 11pm on May 27 after the woman was approached by a man in Howard De Walden Way, Newmarket.

The attacker punched her twice in the face before cutting her face with a knife.

An elderly woman was threatened at knifepoint after three raiders broke into her home and left with a haul of precious possessions in Hilton Road, Fenstanton, on Wednesday, May 17.

Police forces across the country will take part in Operation Sceptre, allowing members of the public to hand in knives without prosecution.

The last amnesty was held in the first week of May and resulted in 105 knives being recovered.

Social media and the workplace

Lucy Pakes, Human Resources Advisor at Ashtons Legal, offers some advice from a legal perspective.

We've all heard stories in the press regarding employees making derogatory comments about their employer via social media and risking the employer's reputation as a result. So, what do you do if you find out that one of your own employees is posting negative feedback about your organisation on Facebook or Twitter, for example?

The first step is to undertake an investigation into any allegation of this sort and establish the facts before moving to any kind of formal action. If evidence of the negative comments has been obtained lawfully e.g. by a whistle-blower giving permission for the employer to view their social media account, then it is fine to use the evidence in a disciplinary hearing.

In some recent tribunal cases, where disgruntled employees have badmouthed their employer on social media, the courts have been willing to uphold dismissals, subject to a number of conditions:

1. The employers had a social media policy in place which was communicated to all employees
2. The policies included:
 - a. what would be regarded as unacceptable conduct on social media
 - b. a warning that employees should not assume their social media activity was private
 - c. stated explicitly that a breach of the policy could result in disciplinary action and potential dismissal

3. The employers followed a fair procedure when investigating the allegations and holding disciplinary hearings.

The most important advice to employers is to check your existing HR policies and procedures and make sure they give you the cover you require for this type of situation.

Social media can however, be a useful tool from the point of view of recruitment and employee engagement. For example, targeted groups on LinkedIn and Facebook can help promote the employer's brand to potential new employees and enable new joiners to network before meeting face-to-face on their first day.

Going forward, the message is clear: social media is here to stay so employers need to work with it and help shape it, rather than avoiding it. For help with drafting a social media policy or dealing with breaches of an existing policy, contact the Ashtons employment team on 01603 944921.

Cash joy for neighbours in Postcode Lottery . . .

FEELING lucky? Three people in Haverhill's CB9 9NH are after they scooped an amazing £120,000 between them.

The neighbours all joined up to the Postcode Lottery and are now reaping the rewards with two winners snagging £30,000 each and another taking home a massive £60,000.

Kerry Meek was one of the lucky winners who won and is over the moon.

Kerry said: "The first thing I'm going to buy myself is a new laptop, which I really need."

"My partner Bernie wants to landscape the garden and it's my daughter's 21st birthday coming up so I'll be able to get her a special present."

"The fact that money from the ticket goes to charity is the main reason I signed up. I've done a lot of fundraising ever since I was in school so it's something that I care a lot about."

Kerry and her partner Bernie were surprised with their cheque by People's Postcode Lottery Ambassador Danyl Johnson this week.

Danyl said: "I had a fantastic day meeting Kerry and surprising her with her cheque. I hope she enjoys spending her winnings – and of course her two neighbours who have also won too."

A minimum of 30 per cent of ticket sales from the Postcode Lottery goes directly to charities.

Players have raised more than £212 million to date.

SURPRISE: Kerry with ambassador Danyl and the Postcode Lottery cheque

■ BLUE blazers have been de rigueur in the Royal box at Wimbledon with David Beckham, and James Middleton among the smartly dressed chaps to have opted for the hue. And you can see why, blue really does work on all, complexions and colourings and looks very dapper when paired with a striped shirt and cream chinos.

For a lightweight take on the look this linen-blend slim-fit jacket is £69.99 at H&M, hm.com

■ IT'S the biggest race of the Formula One season this weekend - well in our opinion anyway. Racing fans and petrol-heads will descend on Silverstone for the British Grand Prix.

Why not celebrate with a spritz or two of Scuderia Ferrari's Red & Black fragrances. The Red has top notes of lime, bergamont, red apple and plum with a warm and spicy heart of jasmine, rose, cardamom and cinnamon, while the Black is fresh and zingy with top notes of amalfi lemon, mint, lavender and mandarin. Priced from £19 (40ml EDT) available at The Perfume shop and Debenhams.

EDUCATION

Rethink over rules on term-time trips

PARENTS face stricter rules about taking their children on holiday in term time.

Cambridgeshire County Council is reviewing its guidance after a landmark Supreme Court ruling.

The planned changes come after Isle of Wight father John Platt lost a £170,000 legal battle over taking his daughter on a one-week trip to Disney World in 2015 without getting permission from her school's headteacher.

Other local authorities have already issued new advice to heads in light of the court ruling.

Derbyshire County Council has said that, from September 1, if requested by schools, it will consider issuing a penalty notice for any period of holiday absence which has not been authorised by the headteacher "regardless of a child's wider school attendance".

Mr Platt was taken to court by the local authority after he refused to pay a £60 fine for taking his daughter out of school.

But magistrates found in favour of Mr Platt, a decision which was controversially upheld by the High

TOMMY LUMBY
@TommyLumbyCN

Court.

However, the decision was finally overturned when the Isle of Wight Council took the case to the Supreme Court, which ruled against the father.

Mr Platt was convicted on June 28 of failing to secure his child's regular attendance, and was handed a 12-month conditional discharge and ordered to pay £2,000.

Cambridgeshire County Council's website states: "Children of school age who are registered at a school must, by law, attend that school regularly.

"Regular attendance is the best way of ensuring that a child makes the most of the educational opportunities which are available to him or her.

"When a child is absent from school, he or she misses not only the teaching provided but is also less prepared for the lessons after his or her return.

"There are only 190 statutory school days in one year and 175 days (weekends and school holidays) available to use for holidays. Therefore every school day counts."

Recent amendments to regulations on pupil attendance mean that headteachers cannot grant any absence during term time unless there are exceptional circumstances to justify such a decision.

The county council said it will now look at the advice it gives to make sure it reflects the most recent legal rulings.

A spokesman said: "We are currently updating our code of conduct and reviewing the guidance in light of the recent decision of the Supreme Court. Schools and parents will be briefed by the end of term if any changes are made to our policy."

COMMUNITY AWARDS

It's time to nominate

As the News launches its Community Awards 2017 we're asking for your help to find this year's winners

DO you know someone in your community who deserves a bit of recognition?

The Cambridge News Community Awards 2017 are now open for entries.

We're looking for exceptional individuals, and groups, who have gone above and beyond the call of duty to help others, or who have shown amazing courage in the face of adversity, including illness.

Anyone can be nominated, whether it's a neighbour who puts others first, a young achiever, or a community group who have helped to improve people's lives.

There are nine categories for nominations – and the winners will be unveiled at a glittering dinner held at Homerton College in Cambridge on Thursday, September 14.

The nine categories are:

Carer of the Year

Many hundreds of people in the region carry out selfless work every day, taking on the responsibility of caring for others, whether it be a sick child, an elderly relative, people with disabilities or others who need help. This award is a tribute to them.

Young Achiever

Young people often get a bad press – but not in the Community Awards. We want to hear about youngsters under the age of 21 who make an outstanding contribution to their communities.

Lifetime Achievement

A very special award designed to honour someone who has made a real difference to their community over many years.

Community Group

This award is open to any project which supports our local communities and improves the lives of those who live in them, such as by organising events, raising money, running clubs or doing other useful work.

Emergency Services

Our emergency services work day and night, 365 days a year, to make sure we are all safe and well. Do you know a member of the 999 services who has shown outstanding bravery, dedication or gone beyond their duty to help the community?

Health Worker of the Year

There are thousands of health workers in our region, both paid and voluntary, who make such a difference to so many people. The winner could be a nurse, a doctor or a voluntary worker who has dedicated a great deal of their life to a health organisation.

Good Friend

This award recognises people with hearts of gold who put the needs of others before themselves. It is designed to reward those kind-hearted folk who do so much for those around them.

Unsung Hero

This award is aimed at paying tribute to inspirational individuals who have gone that extra mile to help others in their community in a variety of ways.

The Liam Fairhurst Award for Most Courageous Child

This category recognises youngsters under the age of 18 who have displayed in different ways and is named in honour of youngster Liam Fairhurst, who raised hundreds of thousands of pounds for CLIC Sargent before losing his fight against cancer in 2009.

A tenth award is also made to the Star of the Year – the best nomination in the eyes of the judges.

A special four-page guide on how you can nominate your local heroes

Unsung Hero

Sponsor: RealVNC

Paying tribute to an inspirational individual who has gone that extra mile to help others in their community in a variety of ways.

"REALVNC is proud to be associated this year with the Community Awards, and we are particularly pleased to be sponsoring the category of "Unsung Hero". As an organisation that prides ourselves on an entrepreneurial spirit, we recognise the huge influence that a single determined person can make to a much greater cause.

"All too often, the contribution made by these dedicated individuals goes unnoticed and their work is taken for granted. Typically humble people that would prefer to keep their achievements to themselves; they are reluctant to recognise the scope of their impact. In defiance of their modesty, this award is a chance to express a collective thank you on behalf of our community. It is our duty to recognise these unsung heroes as positive role models and acknowledge the inspiration they nurture within us all. RealVNC applauds the Unsung Heroes everywhere!"

Help us to reward your local heroes

Here are the details of the categories in which you can nominate someone for one of these special awards – and a word from the big-hearted organisations sponsoring them this year

Lifetime Achievement

Sponsor: The Cambridge Building Society

A very special award designed to honour someone who has made a real difference to their community over many years.

ANDY Lucas, chief operating officer at The Cambridge Building Society says: "We've been involved with the fabulous Community Awards for more than a decade and sponsors of the Lifetime Achievement Award for the last five.

"The awards continue to highlight the unsung heroes within our community and sponsoring the Lifetime Achievement award and presenting this on the night is a real privilege. It's a wonderful way to recognise the hard work and dedication that local people make to the communities in which they live and work. With community being such a focus for us at The Cambridge being involved with these awards is a perfect fit.

"I'm sure this year's event will bring to light even more remarkable and humbling stories of ordinary people who have managed to make an extraordinary difference. All of us at The Cambridge are looking forward to finding out who will take home the Lifetime Achievement award this year and wish all the nominees the best of luck."

WORTHY WINNERS: Last year's Carer of the Year winners, Brandon and Lily Bell. Below, the 2016 Health Worker of the Year award went to Ruth Godden

Community Group

Sponsor: Cambridge City Council

Open to any project which helps our communities and improves the lives of those who live in them.

A SPOKESMAN said: "There are so many people in the city who give their own time and energy to improve their neighbourhoods and the lives of other people.

"This annual awards scheme is an important way for us to say thank you to them and to publicly recognise the difference they make."

CAMBRIDGE COMMUNITY AWARDS

community-awards](http://cambridge-news.co.uk/community-awards)

Good Friend

Sponsor: Ridgeons Recognising someone with a heart of gold who puts the needs of others before themselves.

"RIDGEONS is delighted to be demonstrating its continued support of the Cambridge News Community Awards, by sponsoring the Good Friend category. This award provides the ideal opportunity for individuals to nominate that special person within their own community, who puts the needs of others around them."

"Founded in 1911 by Cyril Ridgeon, Ridgeons remains a family-owned company with traditional values at the heart of its modern business strategy. From branches across the East of England it supplies a complete range of building and timber materials to both trade and retail. Building strong relationships is at the core of how Ridgeons operates. Alongside a strong commitment to customers, great emphasis is placed both on the welfare and development of staff. Relations with suppliers are valued as well as responsibility to the local communities and the environment. Ridgeons recognises the important contribution that individuals make in bringing communities together and feels privileged, that through this award, it is able to celebrate and provide the acknowledgment that these kind-hearted individuals deserve."

Star of the Year

Sponsor: Hill The best nomination in the eyes of the judges.

"WE are delighted to be sponsoring the Star of the Year award at the upcoming Community Awards. The award recognises the contribution that individuals make to the local community, and those who dedicate their time to making a real difference."

"As a Cambridge-based business, we like to support the local community wherever we can – it's what makes Cambridge such a great place to live. Our work is about far more than just construction and we fully embrace our responsibility to enhance our landscapes and to contribute positively to the lives of the communities in which we work. Last year we had the honour of sponsoring the same category and it was extremely inspiring. We look forward to once again having the privilege of meeting individuals who really go that extra mile in helping others at this year's awards. We would like to take this opportunity to wish all of the nominees the best of luck."

Health Worker of the Year

Sponsor: MedImmune Marking the great work done by nurses, doctors or voluntary workers.

"MEDIMMUNE, the global biologics research and development arm of AstraZeneca, is delighted to support the Cambridge News Community Awards 2017, and to sponsor the Health Worker of the Year category."

"Our Cambridge-based team of over 600 scientists and professionals contribute to global project teams that are pushing the boundaries of science to deliver life-changing medicines. They work in key therapeutic areas including oncology; respiratory, inflammation and autoimmunity; cardiovascular and metabolic disease; and infection and vaccines. MedImmune's philosophy of scientific exploration produces medicines which are bringing real improvements to the lives of

A member of the AstraZeneca Group patients around the world.

The success of medicines in treating diseases is dependent on the skill, expertise and hard work of individuals at the front line of caring for patients. The devotion of the many people working in the health sector – be they professionals or volunteers – is integral to the success of modern medicines and therapies in improving the quality of life for patients and their families."

Young Achiever

Sponsor: ARU Recognising a young person under the age of 21 who has made an outstanding contribution to their community.

"ANGLIA Ruskin University enjoys celebrating the brilliant, and sometimes courageous, things young people in our community have achieved. We believe that everyone, given the right encouragement, support and opportunity, can realise their full potential – which is why we are supporting the Young Achiever award for the 10th consecutive year."

Emergency Services

Sponsor: McDonald's Recognising a police officer, firefighter or other member of the 999 services.

"AS the local McDonald's franchisee I am proud to support the Community Awards and help recognise those individuals who go above and beyond to help people in Cambridge."

"We play an active role in the community through our grassroots football and environmental initiatives but we are always looking for new opportunities to work in partnership with local organisations. I am therefore very pleased to be sponsoring the Emergency Services category and would like to wish all of the nominees all the best of luck."

Set for a shaggy dog story

ANGELS in America (today and next Thursday July 27) charts, on an epic scale, tales of New Yorkers grappling with life and death, love and sex, heaven and hell in the midst of the Aids crisis in Reagan's America.

It stars Andrew Garfield, Nathan Lane and Russell Tovey (among others) and has been very well received during its current run at the National Theatre. The broadcast at Haverhill Arts Centre for both performances starts at 7pm.

The much anticipated 2017 Maastricht Concert by Andre Rieu and his 60-piece orchestra will be broadcast on Saturday July 22 at 7pm) and Sunday July 23 at 3pm. Enjoy the magnificent sights and sounds as André works his magic to turn the Vrijthof into an enormous romantic open-air concert hall with guest artists, light shows and soloists. It will be the 13th consecutive year of André's summer concerts; he must be getting good by now!

There's been a cast re-boot in Diary of a Wimpy Kid: The Long Haul (U). In this latest offering Greg convinces his parents to take a road trip. Oh dear, if you've watched the previous incarnations, you will know that this road trip is not what it seems, nor is it going to go to plan. See what happens on Monday July 24 at 2.30pm. Later on Monday, at 7.30pm, in an adaptation of the Daphne Du Maurier novel, My Cousin Rachel (12A) Rachel Weisz plays the eponymous heroine/anti-heroine who may/may not be a vicious killer.

Meanwhile after a radio bonks him on his nounce, Bodi the dog realises that his destiny is not as a guard dog in the mountains but as a Rock Dog or maybe even Rock God. You can see Bodi's adventures on Friday July 28 at 10.30am

Coming soon the arts centre has some great shows for the summer holidays; Cardboard Carnival by Lempet Puppet Theatre on Tuesday August 8 at 11am, a playful show with fantastical animal puppets made out of card; Little Red Robin Hood on Thursday August 17 at 2.30pm and on Friday August 25 The Hairy Maclary and Friends Show at 1.30pm and 4.00pm.

This week the centre has been having a few technical issues with the cinema equipment and so has had to reschedule some of the screenings. It has been able to find a new slot for The Zookeeper's Wife on Wednesday September 6 at 7.30pm, watch this space for further notifications. Apologies for any inconvenience this has caused. The centre is working on fixing the problem as fast as can be so the film screenings next week should not be affected.

- Angels in America: Thursday July 20, 7pm; Thursday July 27, 7pm
- Andre Rieu's 2017 Maastricht Concert: Saturday July 22, 7pm; Sunday July 23, 3pm
- Diary of a Wimpy Kid: The Long Haul (U): Monday July 24, 2.30pm
- My Cousin Rachel (12A): Monday July 24, 7.30pm
- Rock Dog (PG): Friday July 28, 10.30am.

FIRST DRIVE

All-new Ford Fiesta

A COUPLE of miles into the drive I realised the latest offering to come from Ford was humming quietly along the main road – in fourth gear.

If ever you needed a demonstration that the new Fiesta has matured into an even more serious player here it was, with two gears left to go.

At a stroke the best selling car in the UK for the past eight years has turned from cheeky chappie (but loads of fun) into a car that feels bigger and softer and not quite so keen to have a laugh with you.

That certainly applies to the likely biggest seller in the new range, the Zetec trim version with its 100 horsepower engine and – crucially – new six-speed gearbox instead of the previous five.

There's a more sporty, tied-down, ST-Line Fiesta due in the autumn which early signs say has fun factor 50 but it's going to be a relatively small seller, thoroughly outgunned by less expensive versions – and with the Zetec taking more than half the total sales.

So it's good that the Zetec – second up in a Fiesta pecking order stretching from 70 horsepower petrol at £12,715 Style to 120 horsepower diesel, £21,225 Vignale – is such an instant charmer.

More so on the inside than out, you'd have to say. The exterior of the latest Fiesta has grown very modestly (70mm longer, 13mm wider but 20mm lower) and is completely restyled, although you might never guess.

IAN DONALDSON

Driving Force UK

That's as fine a compliment to the outgoing model as you could pay; don't mess with a look that's won thousands of sales. Doesn't do VW any harm with succeeding generations of Golfs, does it?

The result is a car with space to spare in the front – and a near perfect driving position – but just enough room in the rear for a couple of adults and a boot big enough for a family's supermarket shop, but less generous than some of the competition.

Inside is where the attention needed to be paid, with the old car's dashboard looking increasingly like a relic from the past, littered with meanly-sized displays and an excess of tiny buttons.

All gone! Replaced in the modern minimalist fashion by a big iPad-like touchscreen that looks smart but doesn't have a lot to say for itself without a satellite navigation map on display (sat nav is standard on some of the dearer cars, a £300 option on others).

There's more soft touch plastic than previously, lending a gently more upmarket feel to proceedings. With the posh Vignale version you will enjoy the heated leather seats and steering wheel that a mere Zetec trim car can only dream about.

If the all-change interior is a much needed step up, the engine choice is mostly as before, which is no bad thing if you enjoy the willing thrum of a three-cylinder petrol unit.

Gone is the old and mildly asthmatic 1.25-litre engine, with most new Fiestas using versions of the established 1.0-litre EcoBoost three-cylinder unit in differing outputs – 100/125/140 horsepower and with CO2 readings from as low as 97g/km.

The old 1.5-litre diesel engine remains, in two power outputs (85/120 horsepower, from 82g/km), but will take less than one in ten sales.

The new six-speed manual gearbox will feature in the bulk of new Fiestas, which will have five doors too. Ford is sticking with a three-door option in a market increasingly ditching this choice on the grounds that not enough buyers bother these days to make it worthwhile.

The on-paper list price of most cars is an irrelevance these days and that's absolutely the case with the Fiesta, where 85 per cent of private buyers will opt for a personal contract plan (PCP) that provides a Zetec-spec car from £116 a month over three years and with a £5,000 deposit.

That's an increase of £15 a month over the outgoing model but a drive in the new one makes that look a very sensible investment.

Tweaks to the suspension and clearly a lot of work on soundproofing have changed the Fiesta into a car that quietly soaks up bad British road surfaces, only objecting a little to the biggest bumps, and turning into corners with most of the eagerness of old.

Even with fourth gear standing in for sixth some of the time (blame that newfound quietness) the test drive showed 46mpg in a 100 horsepower version, which never felt underpowered.

If a tiny bit of the puppy dog spirit has gone, you have to reckon the payback in refined progress is going to be welcomed by the majority of owners. And there are quicker, firmer ones on the way soon, don't forget.

THE AUDI A8: New design language

Audi builds driverless potential into new A8

THE new Audi A8 made its world debut at the Audi Summit in Barcelona this week.

In its fourth generation, the flagship model again sets the benchmark for Vorsprung durch Technik with a new design language, an innovative touchscreen operating concept and systematic drivetrain electrification. The Audi A8 is also the first production car in the world to have been developed for highly automated driving. From 2018, Audi will gradually be taking piloted driving functions such as parking pilot, garage pilot and traffic jam pilot into production.

The new A8 makes its debut with two extensively reengineered V6 turbo engines: a 3.0 TDI and a 3.0 TFSI. The diesel develops 286PS, and the petrol version 340PS. An eight-cylinder TDI – a 4.0-litre with 435PS – will follow slightly later. The exclusive top engine version is the W12 with a displacement of 6.0 litres.

The A8 L e-tron quattro with its powerful plug-in hybrid drivetrain will follow at a later date.

1972 FERRARI 365: Once owned by Elton John

Sir Elton's Ferrari due on sale at Silverstone

A 1972 Ferrari 365 GTB/4 Daytona once owned by Sir Elton John is expected to fetch more than £500,000 at the Silverstone Classic Sale on July 29-30.

Delivered new on August 3, 1972, through Maranello Concessionaires Ltd, the car is one of only 158 genuine right-hand drive vehicles supplied in Rosso Chiaro with a black interior.

Early registration information identifies Ferrari enthusiast Elton John as the recorded owner and keeper of the car from 1973-1975.

There are 81,675 miles on the clock and the Ferrari will be offered with an estimate of £525,000 to £575,000.

LEARNING TO DRIVE: Is it all downhill from then on?

57% say their driving is worse since test

A STAGGERING 57 per cent of British motorists think they are a worse driver now than when they first passed their test.

Research from Young Driver revealed that only 43 per cent felt they were better behind the wheel now than when they first ripped up the L plates.

In fact, well over a third (39 per cent) of drivers thought they'd struggle to pass their test if they had to retake it now – rising to a worrying 46 per cent of over 55s. More women than men also thought they would fail if they were to take a test tomorrow (42 per cent vs 36 per cent).

More than 2,400 drivers were questioned in the study.

The report comes at the same time as new research shows that the number of 17-year olds taking the practical driving test has fallen by 100,000 since 2007-08, while the overall number of under-25s in the UK that are learning to drive is down by 20 per cent – rising to 40 per cent in Cambridgeshire.

Electric/hybrid era has sparked sales bonanza

THE future for the UK's roads looks greener than ever with UK car buyers registering more electric and plug-in hybrid cars during the first half of 2017 than in any previous six-monthly period.

More than 22,400 plug-in models were registered between January and June 2017, a rise of 14.3 per cent on 2016 and 53.8 per cent up on the same period in 2015.

June exceeded all previous non-plate-change months with 4,405 new plug-in models sold during the month (33 per cent up on June 2016). Demand from private buyers has driven growth with 44.9 per cent more consumers opting for plug-in hybrid and electric power between January and June 2017, compared to the same period last year.

Transport Minister Jesse Norman said: "It is great to see that electric and plug-in hybrid cars are helping more UK motorists to cut fuel costs and emissions. The total number of plug-in cars on our roads is at record levels, with the latest figures showing that there are now over 100,000

RANGE: Cambridgeshire is one of the UK's fastest adopters of new electric/hybrid vehicles plug-in cars and vans registered in the UK.

"Our aim is that nearly all cars and vans on our roads are zero emission by 2050."

The fully-electric Nissan LEAF was the UK's best selling plug-in car in the first six months of 2017, while BMW's plug-in hybrid 3-Series saloon was one of the year's biggest growers, rising 79.9 per cent following its launch last year.

Go Ultra Low is a collaborative campaign bringing together a consortium of vehicle manufacturers, government and the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders (SMMT). Head Poppy Welch said: "Month after month we're seeing record levels of registrations, demonstrating that the public awareness and appetite for electric and plug-in vehicles is growing. They are fast becoming a serious consideration for an increasing number of motorists who are switching on to the cost-saving and environmental benefits of driving an electric car. With fully-electric cars able to go further than ever, and an increasing number of plug-in hybrids offering motorists the best of both worlds, it is harder than ever to ignore the benefits these cars bring."

The West Midlands (2,704) Greater London (2,477) and Cambridgeshire (1,928) topped the list of regions with the highest uptake of plug-in registrations. Greater London also saw the biggest year on year increase, with registrations up 68.6 per cent on the first half of 2016.

The news comes as UK low carbon energy generation hit its highest share in 2017, regularly contributing more than 50 per cent of the nation's requirement.

More than 90 per cent of electric car charging takes place at owners' homes. Find out more at GoUltraLow.com.

Nissan in 360-degree dashcam first

NISSAN has unveiled its latest innovation for drivers with a sense of adventure. Called JukeCam, it's the world's first integrated multipurpose 360° dashcam that transforms in seconds to an action sports camera.

Two bespoke mounts – one integrated into the dashboard of a Nissan Juke crossover, and another attached to a helmet – mean that JukeCam is perfect for filming every aspect of the driver's life.

That could be life on the road, where dashboard cameras can help reduce insurance premiums and settle claims. Or it could be life on the slopes, in the air, down mountain trails or on any other adventure.

Nissan JukeCam is a technology concept that's been developed in conjunction with 360fly, a manufacturer of 360° cameras.

Search YouTube for 'Nissan JukeCam' to find out more.

Golf is top seller

GOLF: June best-seller

LAST month VW notched up 8,808 Golf sales – 207 more than the Fiesta and 525 more than the Ford Focus, the third most popular vehicle.

Nevertheless the Fiesta, which is due for replacement with an all-new model in the next few weeks, remains top seller in the first six months of the year with 59,380 registered.

Year-to-date the Golf is the third most popular model, selling 36,703 units with the Focus second on 40,045.

Overall, the new car market in the UK declined for a third consecutive month with 243,454 new vehicles registered in June, according to the latest figures from industry trade body the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders.

Registrations fell at a slower pace than in the previous two months, by 4.8 per cent, as demand continued to stabilise following a record first quarter and the subsequent market turbulence caused by the recent changes to Vehicle Excise Duty.

Public NoticesDepartment for Transport*TOWN AND COUNTRY PLANNING ACT 1990

The Secretary of State gives notice of the proposal to make an Order under section 247 of the above Act to authorise the stopping up of an irregular shaped western part width of Millfields Way comprising its highway verge adjacent to the former Vixen public house at Haverhill in the Borough of St Edmundsbury.

If made, the Order would authorise the stopping up only to enable development to be carried out should planning permission be granted by St Edmundsbury Borough Council. The Secretary of State gives notice of the draft Order under Section 253 (1) of the 1990 Act.

Copies of the draft Order and relevant plan will be available for inspection during normal opening hours at St Edmundsbury Borough Council, Haverhill House, Lower Downs Slade, Haverhill, Suffolk CB9 9EE in the 28 days commencing on 20 July 2017, and may be obtained, free of charge, from the address stated below quoting NATTRAN/E/S247/2917.

Any person may object to the making of the proposed order by stating their reasons in writing to the Secretary of State at nationalcasework@dtf.gsi.gov.uk or National Transport Casework Team, Tyneside House, Skinnerburn Road, Newcastle upon Tyne NE4 7AR, quoting the above reference. Objections should be received by midnight on 17 August 2017. You are advised that your personal data and correspondence will be passed to the applicant/agent to enable your objection to be considered. If you do not wish your personal data to be forwarded, please state your reasons when submitting your objection.

Eamonn homes in on seniors title with brilliant round

EAMONN Bareham is the Haverhill club's seniors champion.

Playing off scratch, he beat 62 rivals to the title, played as an 18-hole medal event.

Bareham carded a gross 78 to pip Richard Sharp, who shot a gross 80, and Andrew Spittle, gross 81.

Derek Taylor came out top in the nett event, shooting 87-22-65. Dennis White was runner-up with 85-19-66, and Andrew Cornish third, 84-15-69.

The winner of the Mick Turner Veterans Trophy was Dennis White with a nett 66.

■ Proud winners of The Shrubberies – the Haverhill Ladies major – were Denise Walker and Judy Farren, who scored 42 points in the pairs better ball stableford.

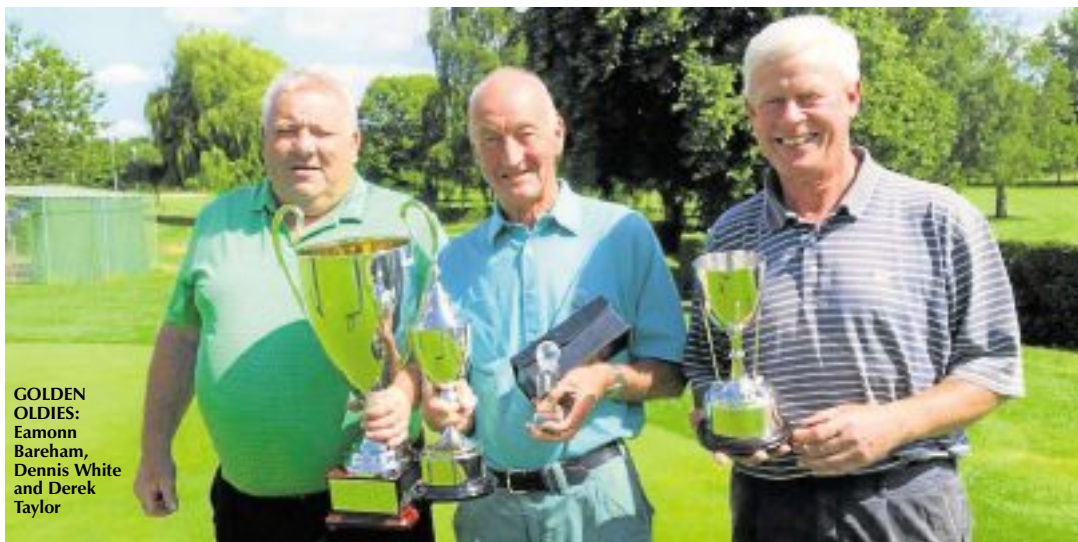

Sally Price and Ann Thompson were second on 38 points, with Pauline Calmet and Val Shipp third on 35 points.

■ Elaine Ward, Doreen Darbey and Sandy Taylor were winners of the Star Lighters Open, a Texas Scramble event for teams of three.

■ Elaine Ward had her handicap cut by two after coming out on top in the Ladies' section's Saturday medal.

On a day when some incredible scores were returned, she carded a nett 68.

Mandy Williamson also had her handicap cut – by one – after shooting a nett 71. She took second on countback from Lyn Fish after both finished on the same score.

GOLDEN OLDIES: Eamonn Bareham, Dennis White and Derek Taylor

Haverhill falter in runs chase

A MIDDLE-ORDER stutter sent Haverhill spiralling to a 33-run defeat at Woolpit in the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division One.

Their demise came after skipper Adam Dellar won the toss and chose to put Woolpit in to bat.

The home side made a solid start and reached 124 for 1, before good spells of bowling from Harry Harding (4 for 40) and Chris Palmer put the brakes on.

The tail was finished off with little difficulty, as Woolpit finished with a par score of 219 for 8.

Steve Fox, pictured, (43) and Chris Palmer (70) provided a solid foundation for Haverhill's reply and they were 125 for 3 after 30 overs.

However, Woolpit quickly applied the pressure, and with the middle order failing to get going, the innings ended on 186 for 9.

In Division Three, Haverhill II

hosted a strong Woolpit II side and were crushed by 139 runs.

Woolpit batted first and centuries from Tom Whiteman and Alex Packer effectively took the game away from Haverhill.

The visitors finished with 275 for 8, three late wickets apiece for Andrew Argent and Dean Sharpe providing the only highlight for the home side.

Haverhill were under the cosh immediately, losing a wicket to the first ball of the innings and continued to see batsmen depart regularly.

Sam Street (39) and Lee Phillips (33) were the main run scorers but Haverhill were all out for just 136.

Haverhill III suffered a one-wicket defeat in Division Nine, thanks to a defiant last-wicket stand by Bardwell's tail-enders.

Bardwell won the toss, chose to field and quickly reduced Haverhill to 25 for 5. However, Neil Mitchell (56) and Kevin Austin (71) turned things around and ensured Haverhill posted a competitive 157 for 8.

Bardwell started their innings quickly, but three wickets for Tyler Bell and four for 14-year-old Abdul Moiz put them on the back foot.

At 87 for 9, Haverhill were on the verge of victory but an unbeaten partnership of 71 from the experienced Bardwell tail-enders meant they squeezed home at 158 for 9.

Date set for Rovers, Borough showdown

THE first Haverhill derby between Rovers and Borough in the Thurlow Nunn, Premier Division will take place on Friday, September 29 at the New Croft.

Borough, who were promoted from Division One last season, will face their local rivals after opening the season against Saffron Walden on Saturday, August 8.

Rovers play the same day – in the earliest round of the FA Cup at Hoddesdon – and are pencilled in to open their Premier Division campaign at home to Long Melford on August 8.

Boxing Day sees Rovers travelling to Saffron Walden while Borough will play Coggeshall Town.

Rovers' countdown to the season continued with a 5-1 defeat of Lakenheath.

After the midweek defeat by Takeley, Rovers responded well, taking an early lead when Harry Halls' cross from the right was headed in by Jordan Palmer after six minutes.

An error by Cameron Watson led to a Lakenheath equaliser after 41 minutes, but three minutes later Rovers regained the lead, the keeper failing to stop Kelvin Enaro's shot from 10 yards despite getting both hands to it.

Ten minutes after the break it was 3-1, Palmer converting a penalty after the Lakenheath keeper prevented Rory Jebb from reaching the rebound from his shot.

Two goals for Justin Leavers soon after coming on as substitute put the game beyond doubt.

His first, after 69 minutes, followed a sliced clearance from the goalkeeper – Leavers looping the ball in from the left of the area – and the second two minutes later was a low finish at the near post.
